2. Citations and explanations:

1. Reference is made to the following document:

D: WO 2003/051078 A1 (QUALCOMM INC.) 19 June 2003

- 2. The present invention relates to a method for establishing an ATM traffic channel path between the SF block of the BSC and the channel card block of the BTS and exchanging information on such established path necessary for establishing such path, wherein the blocks have been designed and implemented in the course of commercializing ATM communication network based on an evolution-data only (EV-DO) system of Qualcomm.
- 3. D is directed to method and system for flow control between a base station controller and a base transceiver station. A flow indication counter responsible for tracking the rate of data flowing out of a buffer at a base transceiver station is incremented each time a data packet is transmitted from the buffer. The buffer window size, which represents the amount of buffer space available for receiving more data, is used by the base station controller to determine the amount of data to transmit to the base transceiver station.
- 4. D does not disclose the characteristic of the present invention which modifies a conventional message between the BSC and BTS, conceives a new message between them while reflecting the conventional message and provides an additional way of exchanging information on the ATM path.
- 5. It is thus believed that Claim 1 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(2)-(4). D does not teach nor fairly suggest any of the components which are especially set forth in the claims. Therefore, Claim 1 has novelty, an inventive step and industrial applicability.
